

NEW HORIZONS FOR THE BLUE WORLD

What is new?

1. We are happy to announce that we are approaching to the very end for the project. We have finalized the last output as well. Now, employers can use the guide created for this project.

2. In this guide, the current gaps in the employment process of adults with autism spectrum disorders were discovered via intensive research. We managed to reach more than 300 employers to discover which information about autism they are missing and what kind of information they wish to learn under the scope of autism. The result showed that employers are missing the necessary information while hiring an employee with autism.

Specific Sections on Guide

3. In this guide, employers are aimed to learn about strategies for addressing people with autism spectrum disorders, how to assign tasks for successful professional integration. Here are the contents of the employer's guide:

- suitable jobs for autistic people.
- creating a special work environment for people with autism.
- difficulties and problems encountered by people with autism at work .
- ways of hiring people diagnosed with autism. Integration of young people with autism in the workplace.
- communication of the employer with people with autism.
- communication of the employer with the families or legal representatives.

4. Moreover short film demonstrations were created. These films were aimed to provide practical information about various topics discussed in the theoretical part.